

FUEL

CCS
ATMORE

GRADES

Creek Indian Enterprises
Development Authority

Why buying premium gas helps your car engine roar

Modern engines, with electronic sensors and controls, are very good at preventing pinging/knocking with lower-octane gas but performance is lost

High-octane fuel is specified when designers want to achieve better acceleration and power output

Some cars with high compression engines, such as sports cars and certain luxury cars, need mid-grade or premium gasoline to prevent knocking

By Jen Peake | CIEDA Marketing Specialist